Reasons to Attend

The provinces of Khanh Hoa and Ninh Thuan in Central Vietnam have a population of 1.9 million. The region is home to 305,000 young people aged 15 to 24 who are highly adaptable, digitally savvy, and increasingly globally minded. As local family incomes rise alongside the region's booming economy, investing in premium overseas education has shifted from being a luxury to a top priority for affluent parents determined to give their children a competitive global advantage.
